Your Entire R&D Portfolio at Your Fingertips

One Powerful Software and Services Suite

Solution Suite Highlights

R&D Logic's unique platform offers business intelligence that enables finance and non-finance users to plan, monitor, analyze and, ultimately, manage performance across the R&D portfolio and the corporation as a whole.

This powerful solution integrates two different management frameworks into a single information platform accessible across the organization. Information is processed both as portfolio activities over time, which is how science manages R&D, and based on corporate structure, which is required for business analysis and planning.

Financial Planning

Planning is unique in R&D intensive companies and is the key to driving value for your organization. Whether you are preparing long range plans, operating budgets or rolling forecasts, R&D Logic simultaneously creates both project and department views. Plan for direct project costs, allocate indirect costs, FTE utilization, and multiple versions and scenarios, we have it all!

Services

R&D Logic's solution suite is unrivaled in incorporating R&D best practices, process automation, and expert services. Our hands on experience in R&D finance, software development, financial planning & analysis, project centric methodologies comes together for a "one-of-a-kind" On-demand solution ideal for your R&D intensive business.

Project Time Collection

Our time collection and reporting tool is designed to capture effort to activities via a user friendly and intuitive interface. Time and FTE information is fully integrated with costs for indirect cost allocations and fully burdened activity reporting.

Tracking & Analysis

The R&D Logic solution is fully integrated with your ERP system at the transaction level. Actual spending and revenue is loaded into a centralized database which is also used to prepare budgets and forecasts. Now you can analyze and report expenses and revenue compared to your financial plan.

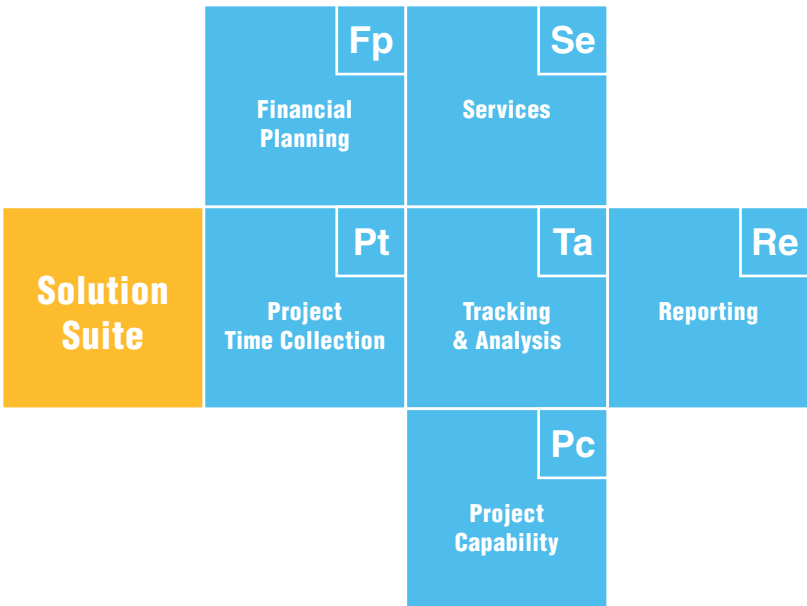

Reporting

We offer various approaches for viewing and reporting information such as online views, standard reports, and custom reporting. Key stakeholders can access information using tools that work best for them, to easily manage their project, portfolio or organization.

Project Capability

At the core of this platform is an engine that creates your project intelligence based on industry accepted methodologies.

Our solution is designed to be project/activity centric. With the project dimension you gain access to built-in project intelligence that combines two management frameworks: project, activities or portfolio view and corporate or organizational views.
